I am very grateful for MWR, but would like to see them renovate the gyms and pools. Soemtimes la m tempted to use off post facitilites because the ones on post are so old and outdated with equipment. Also, the golf courses, especially Ryder are not maintained very well. Thank you

I would like to see more services and activities offered for children under 3. There are very limited activities for my children at this poing. I would like swimming classes for my children. I would also like for infant CPR to be offered, free of charge or for the smallest fee possible. I would also like to see more family and children-oriented activities take place on the weekend.

Swimming pools are a constant problem on Fort Bragg. Several pools offer lap swimming during designated times, but are seldom open during these times. Pool employees constantly close pools due to chemical issues, cloudy water, etc...
In a two week period recently, my family tried 6 times to use pools for lap swimming, but were turned away 4 of these times due to pool closure. This has been a recurring theme among the pools on post.

An on-post adventure race (like the Perimeter Challenge of years past) would draw a large amount of participation to Fort Bragg.

I feel that these surveys are a waste of my time as well as yours. These surveys take away from my time spent defending my country, sitting in the operations office doing important paperwork such as chaptering people out of the Army and stopping Jump Pay and other such things. Let's not forget sorting mail...I mean come on. Furthermore, I am at the 1SG's beck and call. I am forced to watch the independent contractors, and make sure they're not stealing from people's rooms or drinking on the job. Lord knows that it takes a sober mind to install an A/C switch and change out a faucet. Thank you for your time and attention.

More free time off!!!

More leave!!!

More family oriented weekend and trip activities. It seems all MWR trips are adult oriented.

soldiers deploy too often to take advantage of all of the facilities that are offered. i know many soldier who upon returning have one bad experience at a facility and then dislike mwr and the army even more. all of this is compounded by the fact that unit leaders, E-8, O-3 and above dont support soldier, their familys or care about what they do during their free time or weither that have any at all. all soldiers know, it seems is that they'll be yanked from their familys soon enough again, so single one just drink to kill time, and married ones worry too muvh to even try and relax and do something really fun. i'v been i n the army just over 24 months and i'v spent 5 months in training and the 11 months deployed. and the whole time i was back on bragg, we trained so much free time was a scarscity.

I have been stationed off/on at Bragg for over 10 years. Every year for the 4th or any live entertainment, the guest are always country or out of date R&B. There needs to be a variety, more up to date R&B for the main entertainment and not country all of the time. If you observe the participation, it seems that the African Americans and Latinos are left out.

MWR really needs to get a different performer for the fourth of July concert. It is really old to see Darryl Worley again and again. Also, why is it always country music that they get for concerts, why not rock or top 40/pop type music. Or at least mix it up and have a little of both to suit all tastes.

The fairs are a really good bargain and my family enjoys them.

The daycare centers are very unbalanced racially and I have heard nothing but negative comments about them concerning this, ie. unfair to workers, patrons, etc. If I had children the ages that could use them, I would choose not to because of this.

My children really loved the Party in the Park concerts. I wish they held more events that were free and family based entertainment.

I wish that there were some sit down franchise restaurants on this post. The Army version of franchise is cheap and does not have good service for the most part. Too mom and pop ran.

Overall I think that MWR does a good job providing services and programs to the soldiers and their families. Money constraints often limit the programs that can be provided or to what extent they can be offered. Some of the buildings are old and run down but the employees do the best they can with what they have. New designs that are up-beat and energized are really needed, not minor face-lifts to old, outdated designs and decor.

I use the Pope AFB gym because the facility is nice (towels), and juice bar, massage and the instructors for group classes (kick-box, aerobics, pilates, yoga) are generally good. It reminds me of a health club off-post w/o the cost! That's the only place I will work out.

We bring our youth group to the Pope AFB bowling alley - because its a better facility than those on-post. I stopped going into the Bragg ones years ago because of the horrible cigarette smell, greasy grill, and horrible rest rooms.

For a decent lunch, the mini-mall is the only place on-post worth going to - Robin Hood staff are fast & meal selections are good, interesting, current and generally healthy. The Greek food vendor is the only place I can find Romaine lettuce, and I frequently eat the Greek salad.

Sports USA salads are awful - yellow iceberg lettuce doesn't cut it. The pizza bar almost everytime the office staff uses it, is out of pizza (don't stage food flow well) - Mixed reviews on the staff....some a very good, others just have a job.....

McKellars salads....also need improvement. Quality of menu is generally 'old-fashioned' and could use revamping/up-dating to healthier menu choices. Staff is quite good. Watch for keeping the chairs clean - they are starting to get raggedy and stained.

Thank you for asking.

I love the fairs and childrens events that are on post. I wisht that there were more of them. More kids movies in ther thraters during the day on weekends would be great. Especially during the winter months when it is difficult to play outside.

The Officers club at Fort Bragg is awful. I have used them to coordinate events for both work(I am an on post civilian) and for FRG functions (I am also a military spouse). For work we now only use off post facilities. The customer service at the o-club is unacceptable. They did everything in their power to not schedule my events and then were very rude and unattentive making all the food/beverage/decoration/set up decisions. They also go against their writtn prices, often charging hundreds of dollars more then what was listed. Every time you call or have a meeting with the director of the o-club or her staff you feel as if you are an inconvenience to them.

My family and I have made it a tradition to go to Sunday brunch at the o-club, that is until we got to Bragg. The atmosphere, food, beverages are not up to the other installations standards. We now go off post.

The other facilities on post are great, but I can not stress to you enough the lack of customer service and quality of the o-club. I hope that this can soon be resolved so we can use this facility.

I think it would benefit MWR to have a more up-to-date movie theatre on post that shows new releases at the time of release, not months later when the movies come out on DVD. Theatre prices off-post are extravagant--I usually wait until the movie comes out on DVD and then purchase it, but if the price was right, I'd be willing to come on post to watch a first release.

I love to play BINGO; however, playing time at the Yntema is not long enough. More games should be added to regular Bingo nights and maybe once a month or quarterly, need to add a special BINGO night with higher jackpots, more incentives for people to come out, etc..... The same old thing day in and day out gets boring.

By the way the survey was constructed, it was impossible to convey accurately the goods and bads about MWR activities. For example, Ritz-Epps Gym is wonderful for equipment, staff friendliness and responsiveness, cleanliness, and convenience, but they have continued to have heating and cooling problems especially for the locker rooms. In the winter cold air blows out of the vents, in the summer no air blows from the vents in the locker rooms. It doesn't make sense. Callahan has friendly staff, but inadequate space for sit-ups and stretching and the locker rooms have black stuff growing in the showers and the hair dryers seldom work. Dahl, Iron Mike, and the gym closest to the All American Freeway located off Gruber (I forget it's name), have very good locker rooms, but the weight rooms are cold and the aerobic areas are miserably hot. The food servers at the golf clubs seem annoyed when they take your order and during golf tournaments seemed more concerned with conserving food for their own later consumption than allowing golfers to get an adequate amount on their plates. The library is wonderful! Love it! I was very disappointed in the high cost of getting a photo framed by the Frame Shop near the library. Later I found a place off post that was far more reasonable and far more responsive in getting my framing done in a reasonable time. Rituals coffee is located in at least 4 places that I know of on post. Some do a good job, others are just adequate, but they are all over priced. Very disappointed in dinners at the Officer's Club. Food is expensive and always overcooked and tasteless. The NCO Club does a good job with it's lunch buffet. The Army Birthday Ten Miler was one of the best managed races in which I've participated. Superb course marking and management, lots of water stops, great coordination with having the Army band there, wonderful plaques for winners, sufficient fruits, carbs and drinks at the finish, easy registration, quick results announcement, and enthusiastic volunteers. All around terrific job!

I think that MWR should stop trying to compete with off-post clubs and restaurants. It seems like a lot of time is invested in "trying" to get losing facilities to make money and not enough time on enhancing the programs that really work. Membership clubs are a thing of the past, now everyone wants theme restaurants/casual dining. You can't get a table in a restaurant in Fayetteville on a Friday or Saturday night unless you want to wait an hour or so. The restaurants on post do so poorly, they can't even open. What's does that tell you?!

I am concerned about the deterioration of MWR facilities in regards to structural conditions of the facilities. In once instance the Indoor Pool is completely closed because of the poor condition of the filtration equipment and the pool itself. Many of the buildings have numerous roof leaks that, over time has caused the gymnasium floor to warp and buckle. There has been major renovation of some of the fitness centers, however the workmanship of the renovation is severely lacking. It appears that between the design and the contractor, MWR is on the short end and receives far less quality and service than a similar facility that were renovated in the civilian sector. This is impacting of the morale of our soldiers and patrons when the entire facility cannot be used based on poor workmanship during contracting.

It is a relatively new facility that is not being maintained very well. I have complained about the condition of the facility numerous times with no action being taken to repair the problems. Currently the volleyball courts outside are in horrible shape.

The gyms are in good shape and are being updated. When the closing times are posted, they close them a 1/2 hour early to clean them. This forces patrons to leave earlier than the posted closing time.

Need to increase the programs related to hunting, fishing, shooting sports and archery. While these programs are currently available at Fort Bragg, they are somewhat limited or are not well advertised. There needs to be instructional programs as well as participation/competition programs. The instructional programs could likely be conducted primarily by volunteer staff.

Need woodworking related programs and facilities, there are none that I am aware of on Fort Bragg. Again, need instructional as well as participation programs.

All the above to be available for youth as well as adults.

It is my honest opinion that the MWR facilities used to be very good on FT. Bragg. However, when they (whoever they are) closed the MWR Craft & Art shop and turned it over to contractors and sold all the equipment and supplies, that we (the individuals) had bought and paid for, that I really stopped attending.

I now go to Pope AFB whenever I have projects or woodworking to accomplish.

Ryder Golf Course is the least customer-friendly facility I have ever encountered. In more than a quarter-century of combined active military and civil service exposure to MWR facilities, at installations all over the world, the attitude of the employees at this facility is by far the worse I've ever encountered. The staff, and the head professional in particular, demonstrate on a consistent basis that job security is not dependant on a satisfied customer base. I make this assertion not on the basis of course condition, quality of the facility, or any consideration other than the customer service shortcomings of this facility.

I am retired and maintain a house here in Fayetteville but spend most of my time at my place in Myrtle Beach. therefore, I do not use the facilities to the extent that I once did. I will state emphatically that MWR is one of the most key elements to taking care of the needs of our Troops. These troops deserve and need, more than ever, that support. They are more professional and far more used (deployed) to dangerous assignments than we used to be. I fully support full and complete MWR support for our Soldiers.

Overall, I am very satisfied with MWR activities on Fort Bragg with the exception of the Automotive Craft Shop. This is a very good activity for both the single and married personnel around Fort Bragg however, the costs charged to the customer has gotten way too much. It has become so expensive to use that I now do the vast majority of my auto maintenance at my home in the driveway, when I would much rather use the auto shop. To illustrate this, I recently use the facility to mount and balance 4 tires and the cost to use the auto shop ended up being more than if I had paid a tire company to do the work. The hourly fee is so high that it is no longer fiscally practical to use it for such things as oil changes and other routine maintenance. The only thing I use the facility for now is for work that requires special tools or lifts that I don't have at home. Also, because of EPA requiements, all automotive paint shops on Ft Bragg have been closed, I believe permanantly. For a person who is into restoration, we are now forced to pay civilian businesses to paint the vehicles, which cost a lot.

Big concern is that MWR has to make money to survive. I.E. Skydiving. Once had three clubs, then two clubs, now one club and it has to jump off post. No support from post and the constant threat to close you down if you don't make money. I always thought that MWR was all about taking care of the soldier without it costing him a great amount of money. I'm about at the end of my jumping career that has spanned more than four decades and I believe that if we had the support for skydiving now that we've had in the past we would triple the membership of the jump activity. It SHOULD NOT COST THE SOLDIER ALL HIS MONEY TO JUMP. The Army should at least pay the utilities cost of the building, maybe buy the parachutes used for training, and provide a Soldier to manage the activity. And if no Soldier hire a GS Civilian at about the GS 11 level to manage the activity. Currently it is MWR money (NAF) AND IT IS VERY LITTLE!! Because we GOTTA MAKE MONEY!!! Ft Bragg is a great place to live and work, it is the center of the universe. I just think we could treat our soldiers better when it comes to charging them for recreation.

MWR Services are POOR at best! MWR and AAFES are here for a profit – could care less about the soldier or the military family. Most off-post facilities are less expensive compared to the LIMITED MWR facilities available on-post. Facilities and equipment in most cases are old and/or unserviceable (unless in a remote overseas location). I have been stationed at Fort Bragg (on and off) since 1984, as both active duty and now civil service. In that time, I have not seen anything (other than the annual fair/Okttoberfest) that is publicized on-post. Unless you go to the clubs (Blackjack, NCO, etc.) there is nothing that I have seen promoting events or anything else. As an active duty service member, club membership is a requirement. Officers, for example, are not asked to join the Officer's Club, they are told "they will join" the Officer's Club. Club membership should be an option...not a condition of favorable consideration on an OER. Most soldiers can't afford the items in AAFES (clothing, computers, or computer equipment for example). Circuit City, Staples and even Walmart have a much larger selection and at a more affordable price than what is available on-post! Odd how I receive "MWR Happenings" from Redstone Arsenal, AL but being stationed at Fort Bragg, NC – not a chance! What MWF facilities are available to the soldiers or military family are TOO FEW, TOO FAR APART, and TOO EXPENSIVE to be of use. Many of our younger soldiers don't have a second automobile and family members must walk to AAFES or other MWR facilities. Shoppette's use to be accessible to housing areas – no longer. AAFES and MWR need to think about the young married soldier of today with one or two children trying to make ends-meet. Food stamps and other off-post social programs take care of our soldiers and their families today because AAFES and MWR has forgotten how to.

The MWR programs/facilities at Fort Bragg are among the best I've seen in the 15 years my husband has been in the military, but there is always room for improvement. I would like to see more programs/facilities such as skate parks, basketball courts, gyms, etc geared at the teens on post-especially during the times when school is out of session. I would also like to see some sort of program at the gyms on post that would allow the moms who go to the gym while their kids are in school to continue to go the gym when school is out. Right now, if your child is over 5, you cannot take them into mom and me room, but many moms have children who aren't old enough to stay alone. These moms usually have nowhere to send their children while they go to the gym for 30-60 minutes so they can't utilize those facilities while school is out. Summer matinees would also the youngsters on post something to do in the summer. Overall, though, MWR here is really great and my family and I really enjoy the programs and facilities MWR provides!

We recently went to the viewing of Shrek 2 offered on post. We had a great time! This was a perfect way for our family to spend a Saturday night together. The kids loved dancing to the music before the movie and they especially enjoyed the free popcorn and ice cream. It would be great to see this be a weekly event during the spring/summer months.

In our hometown, Sacramento, California the city would organize weekly concerts in the park during the summer. These were wonderful events that brought the whole community together and provided family entertainment. I'm sure these types of activities would be well utilized.

Thank you!

I think that MWR does a good job. I have a slight problem with one of the facilities though, The Iron Mike Physical Fitness Center. I use the Parent/Tot room a lot, and I would like to see some better equipment in there. There is much better equipment in the other rooms of the facility. The machines in this room are not in good working order, and there is not a very good variety of machines. I wish that the elliptical machines had the movable arm bars. I don't feel like I get a good all around workout, but I continue to use it, because I have a 2 year old and a 5 year old that are always with me. My husband is deployed, and I don't like to leave my children with other people (and can't really afford to). I hope something can be done to improve the Parent/Tot room at Iron Mike. Thank you.

What is offered is not the problem. The problem is the need to upgrade facilities, modernize them and clean them up. Make MWR more competitive with the rest of the market. The "value" is not great enough to keep people on post because the quality is not there.

I don't see any need for duplicating what is already in the Fayetteville area. It seems a lot of money and energy go into the clubs and we don't really need them with so many restaurants in the Fayetteville area. What I have found is that almost all of the facilities and activities are "Open to the Public." I'm not sure how we can justify these activities as a benefit to soldiers if they are actually open to everyone. If the MWR facilities can't be paid for with federal dollars, they should just be closed all together.

We just attended a fishing derby with our kids that was alot of fun. We have attended many festivals, and they are fun too. I attend a lot of off post activities with my kids for free, and I would like to see more things like that for our kids on post. A local craft store has free crafts for the kids to do once or twice a week, and a local theater shows kids movies for $1 in the mornings. We really enjoy our library and swimming pools on post, but the pools keep having trouble regulating their chlorine level. Thanks for all of the great services you provide.

I would like to see the library have a better and more up-to-date childrens book section. The pools to be completely clean and functional. Also, the weaning out of MWR staff that feel that they are doing you a favor by being there. One bad interaction with a staff member can ruin the chance of fully being able to enjoy what the MWR has to offer.

Overall Comment

Fort Bragg has a lot to offer. I don't use the facilities simply because the driving time in the traffic is too long and I prefer to go closer in an off-post facility. My husband drives to Fort Bragg 2-4 times day and when he comes home has no stamina left to go back on post for additional activities.

We would like to go Smith Lake which is a lot closer but they don't allow pets. The hotel on post don't accept pets either so we rather use other facilities where pets are welcome.

I think MWR needs to be more active in remote locations and overseas where facilities are scarce and when soldiers and families need recreational outlets. I think it is particularly important to have organized separate trips for adults and for families with children in overseas locations. This will give a chance to blend with local culture and to open intellectual horizons.

Anything I used to do while on post like swim next time we went back the pools were gone, and sicne I no longer live on post we use nothign on post. But to have a daycare that is safe and the kids dont get hurt and the post keeps up the pools would be nice, but have real hours for people who have real jobs and not on military hours since all of the militart only caters to the active duty

I think that Fort Bragg needs to think about how many actual children are living on base and look into opening more daycares. It is ridiculous that there is a 12 month waiting list for infants and there is no daycare that is open past 600. Since when does military exercises end at 600. My husband is never home by 600. Lack of child care for my children and all my neighbors make it so that the spouses can not work. More daycares need to go in with extended hours, especially since they are building soo many new homes, that only means thousands of more children. Be realistic.

Music, painting, photography, that sort of thing. I haven't seen anything geared towards people like me. And I do not feel like the Army cares about me, because I know it doesn't. The FRG, to me, is just a bunch of bored housewives that need a little drama in their lives. The FRG gives them that. I, obviously, have not had a positive experience with my FRG or MWR Services.
